FICTION

From the author of the Sunday Times bestseller BROTHERS IN BLOOD, and co-author with T. J. Andrews of the Sunday Times bestseller ARENA, comes a tense, action-packed adventure with the Roman army officer Figulus in the heart of barbaric first-century Britannia, previously published in five separate ebook-only instalments.

In this gripping novel about the Roman army's struggles against the barbarians in first-century Britannia, the junior officer Figulus faces a series of missions which could bring him honour and promotion - or lead to a dreadful fate at the hands of a ruthless enemy. Amongst the bravest in the heart of the action, Figulus has not sought out leadership but, as the story progresses, must rise to the challenge of bringing his men safely through skirmishes and sabotage as well as brutal face-to-face combat. And always every soldier, whatever his rank, knows that this may be the day he is asked to make the ultimate sacrifice for Rome.

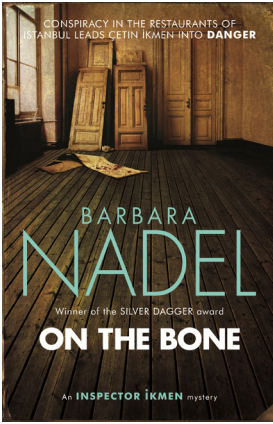

Simon Scarrow's passion for writing began at an early age. After a childhood spent travelling the world he pursued his great love of history as a teacher, before becoming a full-time writer in 2005. Simon's Roman soldier heroes Cato and Macro first stormed the book shops in 2000, and Simon has many other literary projects in hand including a young adult Roman series. FICTION

The new novel starring Inspector Ikmen, 'the Morse of Istanbul' (Daily Telegraph), in the acclaimed series perfect for fans of Donna Leon.

A young man drops dead in a fashionable Istanbul street. The autopsy proves it was a natural death - a heart attack - but what is in Emre Alphan's stomach is not. His last meal was of human flesh. Ikmen must trace Alphan's final movements, and discover who the victim was. Food itself has become contentious, with traces of pork discovered in tinned beans, accusations flying about whether this was a deliberately provocative act in a Muslim country, and suspicions about what is really being served up. Ikmen soon finds himself in the world of the now beleaguered secular elite, people who feel their Western way of life is under threat of extinction, some of whom are joining a very dark new cult...

Trained as an actress, Barbara Nadel used to work in mental health services. Born in the East End of London, she now writes full time and has been a visitor to Turkey for over twenty years. She received the Crime Writers' Association Silver Dagger for her novel DEADLY WEB.

A powerful saga in the Families of Fairley Terrace series, filled with romance, tragedy, drama, secrets and triumph in adversity from the author of All The Dark Secrets.

When Annie Day at number four, Fairley Terrace, loses her beloved husband in a tragic mining disaster, she cannot afford the luxury of grief. For now she must find a way to support herself and her two young daughters, Kitty and Lucy, and marriage to widower Algernon Pierce seems to be the answer to Annie's prayers. For a time, all is well. But beneath her new husband's respectable veneer, lies a darkness which deepens as the years roll by. Annie begins to fear for her daughters' futures, particularly vibrant, headstrong Lucy, whose defiance of Algernon alters the course of their lives for ever...

Price: £16.99

ISBN: 9781472208903

FICTION

From the bestselling author of THREE AMAZING THINGS ABOUT YOU and THE ONE YOU REALLY WANT comes a deliciously romantic and poignant read about love, loss and how nothing can stay hidden for ever...

On the morning of Lily's twenty-fifth birthday, it's time to open the very last letter written to her by her beloved mother, who died when she was eight. Learning more about the first and only real love of her mum's life is a revelation. On the same day, Lily also meets Eddie Tessler, a man fleeing fame who just might have the ability to change her world in unimaginable ways. But her childhood friend Dan has his own reasons for not wanting Lily to get too carried away by Eddie's attentions.

Before long, secrets begin to emerge and Lily's friends and family become involved. In the beautiful Cotswold village of Stanton Langley, nothing will ever be the same again...

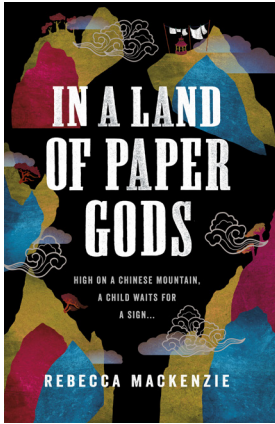

Jill Mansell lives with her partner and children in Bristol, and writes full time. Actually that's not true; she watches TV, eats fruit gums, admires the rugby players training in the sports field behind her house, and spends hours on the internet Tweeting and marvelling at how many other writers have blogs. Only when she's completely run out of displacement activities does she actually write. Follow Jill on Twitter at @JillMansell.

FICTION

A gorgeous literary debut in the tradition of The Poisonwood Bible.

Jiangxi Province, China, 1941

Atop the fabled mountain of Lushan, celebrated for its temples, capricious mists and plunging ravines, perches a boarding school for the children of British missionaries. As her parents pursue their calling to bring the gospel to China's most remote provinces, ten-year-old Henrietta S. Robertson discovers that she has been singled out for a divine calling of her own. Etta is quick to share the news with her dorm mates, and soon even Big Bum Eileen is enlisted in the Prophetess Club, which busies itself looking for signs of the Lord's intent. (Hark.) As rumours of war grow more insistent, so the girls' quest takes on a new urgency - and in such a mystical landscape, the prophetesses find that lines between make believe and reality, good and bad, become dangerously blurred. So Etta's pilgrimage begins.

Rebecca Mackenzie spent her childhood in Thailand, Malaysia and India, and is herself the daughter of missionaries. She has MA in Creative Writing from Royal Holloway. She lives in London.

IN A LAND OF PAPER GODS is her first novel.

I escaped. My name is Flora Dane and I was kidnapped from a beach on spring break. I spent 472 days with my captor before I was found.

I survived. And I've spent the last five years trying to reacquaint myself with the rhythms of my life. But everything is different. My relationships are fractured. I've had to learn how to protect myself, how to live in this dangerous new world.

I'm reckless. I know that there are other predators out there and I'll do anything to stop them. Now I've killed a man, who I suspect may be involved in another girl's disappearance. Detective D.D. Warren doesn't trust me. She doesn't know whether I am a victim or a vigilante. Sometimes neither do I. But all she needs to know is that I can help. And that I'll put myself in danger again if I need to. Because the only thing that's important is to FIND HER .

Lisa Gardner is the New York Times bestselling author of seventeen novels. Her FBI Profiler novels include SAY GOODBYE, GONE and THE KILLING HOUR. Her Detective D.D. Warren series includes THE NEIGHBOUR, which won the International Thriller Writers' Award in 2010, CATCH ME, TOUCH & GO, FEAR NOTHING and CRASH & BURN.

FICTION

What happens when you invite a perfect stranger into your home? But that stranger just happens to also be your sister? A stunning debut for any fan of Zoe Heller or Emma Healey.

Lizzy lives with her father, Julian, and her brother, Ig, in North London. Two years ago her mother died, leaving in a trail a family bereft by her absence and a house still filled with her things: for Margaret was lively, beautiful, fun, loving; she kept the family together. So Lizzy thinks. Then, one day, Lizzy finds a letter from a stranger to her father, and discovers he has another child. Lizzy invites her into their world in an act of outraged defiance. Almost immediately, she realises her mistake. LOOK AT ME is a deft exploration of family, grief, and the delicate balance between moving forward and not quite being able to leave someone behind. It is an acute portrayal of how familial upheaval can cause misunderstanding and madness, damaging those you love most.

Sarah Duguid grew up on a farm in North Lincolnshire and was educated in Derbyshire and at Durham University where she read English Literature. After university, she lived and worked in New York and South Africa before returning to London where she now lives with her partner and their son. She is currently working on a Masters in English at UCL as well as her second novel.

The delicious history of our favourite treat.

In our family, as in many others, familiar cakes are the makers of memories. My siblings and I took this idea into our adult lives, and now bake for our own families. But it wasn't until I developed an interest in the history of food that I started to think about the deeper significance of these tasty treats. What does cake mean for different people? How have we come to have such a huge variety of cakes? What had to happen historically for them to appear? And what can they tell us about the family, and women's roles in particular? I wrote this book to find out the answers.

What follows is a journey from King Alfred to our modern-day love of cupcakes, via Queen Victoria's patriotic sponge, the Southern States of America, slavery and the spice trade, to the rise of the celebrity chef . . . and so much more.

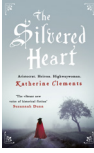

Alys Levene is a social historian at Oxford Brookes University, Oxford (and enthusiastic amateur baker). She has researched and published articles and books on a variety of topics which connect with this book: the history of childhood, health, the family, and food. This is her first trade book.

A stunningly Gothic reimagining of Jane Eyre as a gutsy, heroic serial killer published for the 200th anniversary of the birth of Charlotte Bronte.

Jane Steele is a joy, both plucky and rueful in her assessment of her dark deeds. The plotting is solid and the pacing sublime.' - Sue Grafton

'Brava to Lyndsay Faye for what's already one of my favourite thrillers of the year.' - Sarah Weinman

Like the heroine of the novel she adores, Jane Steele suffers cruelly at the hands of her aunt and schoolmaster. And like Jane Eyre, they call her wicked - but in her case, she fears the accusation is true. When she flees, she leaves behind the corpses of her tormentors.

When she falls in love with the mysterious Charles Thornfield, the new master of Highgate House, she faces a terrible dilemma: can she possess him - body, soul and secrets - and what if he discovers her murderous past?

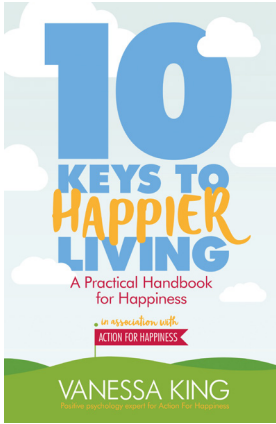

Lyndsay Faye is the author of critically acclaimed DUST AND SHADOW and the Timothy Wilde trilogy: the Edgar Award-nominated THE GODS OF GOTHAM, SEVEN FOR A SECRET and THE FATAL FLAME.

FICTION

Only a handful of exceptional novels touch almost every reader's heart. This is one of those books.

This is Headline's 2016 passion book - a novel so special, so emotionally engaging, so fresh in the way it handles its themes, and with such a clear authorial voice – that it will become one of those rare books that everyone who loves fiction is talking about. At its simplest, THE ONE IN A MILLION BOY is the story of an unlikely friendship, between a mentally sharp, determinedly independent woman of 104 and the world-records-obsessed eleven-year-old boy tasked with doing odd jobs around her decaying property. But it's much more than that. It's about families, and love, and grief. It's about a father trying to finish what his son had begun. It's about the invisibility of old age and the discovery that there's always more life to be lived. It's about being young and open, with no side and no cynicism, and an uncertain future.

It's insightful, it's inventive, it's full of surprises, and although it's heart-wrenchingly sad in places, it's also laugh-out-loud funny when you least expect it. Sometimes the worst in life brings out the best in everyone.

The Second Love of My Life

Victoria Walters

Imprint: Headline Review

Pub: 07/04/2016

Format: First-Format Paperback

Price: £7.99

ISBN: 9781472229328

FICTION

Victoria Walters' debut novel about a young woman who becomes a widow aged twenty-four is a heartfelt tale of love, loss, and finding the courage to love again.

In the small Cornish town of Talting, everyone is known for something. Up to the age of twenty-four, artist Rose Walker was known for lots of things: her infectious positivity; her unique artistic talent; her second-to-none cookery skills; and, of course, her devotion to childhood sweetheart and husband Lucas. But, two years ago, all of that changed in one, unthinkable moment. Now, Rose is known for being a young woman who became a widow aged just twenty-four. Rose knows that life must - should - go on. But the prospect of trying to carve out a future for herself is one she can still barely entertain. Until a newcomer, Robert Green, arrives in Talting for the summer... Can Rose allow herself the chance to love again?

Tastes Like Fear (DI Marnie Rome 3)

Sarah Hilary

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 07/04/2016

Format: Trade Paperback

Price: £14.99

ISBN: 9781472226419

FICTION

Sarah Hilary won the 2015 Theakston's Crime Novel of the Year with her debut, the 2014 Richard and Judy pick. She followed up with NO OTHER DARKNESS, proclaimed as 'utterly gripping' by Eva Dolan. Now D.I. Marnie Rome returns in her third novel.

You'll never be out of Harm's way. The young girl who causes the fatal car crash disappears from the scene. A runaway who doesn't want to be found, she only wants to go home. To the one man who understands her. Gives her shelter. Just as he gives shelter to the other lost girls who live in his house. He's the head of her new family. He's Harm. DI Marnie Rome has faced many dangerous criminals but she has never come up against a man like Harm. She thinks that she knows families, their secrets and their fault lines. But as she begins investigating the girl's disappearance nothing can prepare her for what she's about to face. Because when Harm's family is threatened, everything tastes like fear...

Sarah Hilary has worked as a bookseller, and with the Royal Navy. Her debut novel SOMEONE ELSE'S SKIN won the Theakstons Crime Novel of the Year 2015. It was the Observer's Book of the Month ('superbly disturbing'), a Richard & Judy Book Club bestseller, and has been published worldwide. TASTES LIKE FEAR is the third Marnie Rome novel.

FICTION

Calcutta, the 1940s.

In a ramshackle house, streets away from the grand colonial mansions of the British, live Maisy, her Mam and their ayah, Pushpa. Whiskey-fuelled and poverty-stricken, Mam entertains officers in the night - a disgrace to British India. All hopes are on beautiful Maisy to restore their good fortune. But Maisy's more at home in the city's forbidden alleyways, eating bazaar food and speaking Bengali with Pushpa, than dancing in glittering ballrooms with potential husbands. Then one day Maisy's tutor falls ill. His son stands in. Poetic, handsome and ambitious for an independent India, Sunil Banerjee promises Maisy the world.

So begins a love affair that will cast her future, for better and for worse. Just as the Second World War strikes and the empire begins to crumble... This is the other side of British India. A dizzying, scandalous, dangerous world, where race, class and gender divide and rule.

Louise Brown has lived in Nepal and travelled extensively in India, sparking her enduring love of South Asia. She was a Senior Lecturer in Sociology and Asian Studies at the University of Birmingham. In research for her critically acclaimed non-fiction books she's witnessed revolutions and even stayed in a Lahore brothel with a family of traditional courtesans. EDEN GARDENS is her first novel.

David Churchill

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 21/04/2016

Format: Hardback

Price: £16.99

ISBN: 9781472219220

FICTION

David Churchill's The Leopards of Normandy trilogy continues with Duke.

William the Bastard, boy Duke of Normandy, is alone in a world filled with enemies. His father, Robert, is dead and the men chosen to protect William are falling prey, one by one, to a conspiracy controlled and manipulated by a man who has spent a lifetime being mocked and ridiculed, but now burns with the need to be feared and obeyed. In England, two women, equally matched in their beauty, strength and limitless ambition, seek power through their sons. They wield no swords and command no armies but their struggle for the Crown is as bitter as any war. And between them stands Godwin, Earl of Wessex, seeking to build a dynasty that will outlast them all. One day, William will join the struggle for dominion over England. But for now he must fight just to survive, to reach manhood and then to impose his will on those who would oppose him. Including the young woman he wants for his wife.

David Churchill is the pseudonym of an award-winning journalist, who has investigated financial scandals on Wall Street, studio intrigues in Hollywood and corrupt sports stars in Britain, and lived in Moscow, Washington DC and Havana. He has edited four magazines, published seventeen books and been translated into some twenty languages. DUKE is the second book in THE LEOPARDS OF NORMANDY trilogy.

Even death cannot part these couples...

DI Damen Brook is on a rare period of leave and determined to make the most of it by re-connecting with his daughter Terri. But with her heavy drinking proving a challenge, Brook takes the opportunity to visit a local murder scene when his help is requested.

An elderly couple have each been executed with a single shot to the heart and the method echoes that of a middle-aged gay couple killed the previous month. With the same killer suspected and the officer currently in charge nearing retirement, Brook knows that he has little choice but to cut short his leave when forced by his superiors to take the lead on the case. Brook believes that he can catch this ruthless killer, but already distracted by Terri's problems, is he about to make a fatal mistake and lead the killer right to his own door?

Steven Dunne has been a freelance journalist writing for The Times and the Independent and, after co-writing a comedy pilot, wrote the book for The Latchmere Theatre's award-winning pantomime Hansel and Gretel. Since moving to Derby he has written five highly acclaimed thrillers all featuring DI Damen Brook of Derby CID. He is also a part-time teacher in the city.

The lives of Henry VIII's queens make for dramatic stories. Alison Weir will write a series of novels beginning with Katherine of Aragon that offer insights into the real lives of the six wives based on extensive research and new theories. Alison will write about the wives in the context of their own age and of the court intrigues that surrounded these women and - without exception - wrecked their lives. She will transport readers into a lost and vivid world of splendour and brutality: a world in which love, or the game of it, dominates all.

'[Weir] gets right inside the head of the Virgin Queen. The reader has a blissful sense of seeing history as it happens'
- Kate Saunders on The Marriage Game, The Times

'A brilliant novel that focuses on the volatile relationships with Elizabeth I and the charismatic Lord Dudley'

- Woman and Home on The Marriage Game

'A breathtaking story of secrets and lies'
- Kate Williams on The Marriage Game

Alison Weir is one of the UK's bestselling and most respected historians and lives and works in Surrey. She is the author of 17 works of historical non-fiction and 5 historical novels.

Every Exquisite Thing

Matthew Quick

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 10/05/2016

Format: Hardback

Price: £16.99

ISBN: 9781472229540

FICTION

The powerful new novel from Matthew Quick, author of Oscar-nominated THE SILVER LININGS PLAYBOOK, is an honest and authentic exploration of love, rebellion and belonging.

Nanette O'Hare is an unassuming teen who has played the role of dutiful daughter, hard-working student, and star athlete for as long as she can remember. But when a beloved teacher gives her his worn copy of The Bubblegum Reaper - the mysterious, out-of-print cult-classic - the rebel within Nanette awakens. As she befriends the reclusive author, falls in love with a young but troubled poet, and attempts to insert her true self into the world with wild abandon, Nanette learns the hard way that sometimes rebellion comes at a high price.

A celebration of the self and the formidable power of story, EVERY EXQUISITE THING is Matthew Quick at his finest.

Matthew Quick (aka Q) is the New York Times bestselling author of several novels, including THE SILVER LININGS PLAYBOOK, which was made in to an Academy Award-nominated film. His work has been translated in to more than twenty languages and has received a PEN/Hemingway Award Honorable Mention, among other accolades. Q lives in Massachusetts with his wife, novelist/pianist Alicia Bessette.

Daniel Sullivan, his wife and three children are en route to an airport when he happens to turn on the radio. A hush falls when Daniel hears a voice he has not heard for decades, and realises that the talented, unhappy woman it belonged to died shortly after he left her.

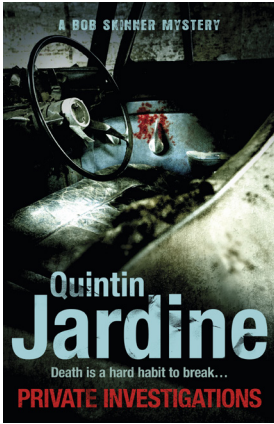

What follows is Daniel's attempt to uncover the truth of how he came to walk away from his first love, with devastating consequences. But this is not his story alone, for his has been a complex life, and it is just as much that of the estranged children of his previous marriage, of his wife Claudette Wells, a reclusive former actress, and of the family they have raised in a stunning but remote rural Irish home. What emerges is a rich and extraordinarily intimate portrait of a unique marriage, one we become increasingly aware is being eaten away at by the slow, inevitable work of loss, and the reverberations of what happened between Daniel and a young woman named Nicola, all those years ago.

Maggie O'Farrell is the author of six novels, AFTER YOU'D GONE, MY LOVER'S LOVER, THE DISTANCE BETWEEN US, which won a Somerset Maugham Award, THE VANISHING ACT OF ESME LENNOX, THE HAND THAT FIRST HELD MINE, which won the 2010 Costa Novel Award, and INSTRUCTIONS FOR A HEATWAVE, which was shortlisted for the 2013 Costa Novel Award. Price: £14.99

FICTION

Quintin Jardine's twenty-sixth Bob Skinner mystery sees the Edinburgh sleuth plunged into a gruelling new case in which no score will go unsettled.

Enjoying life as a private citizen after a thirty-year police career, Bob Skinner is on the way to answer a friend's plea for help when a freak accident gives him an unwelcome glimpse of the dark side.

As his former colleagues investigate the mystery of a dead child in the boot of a stolen car, the ex-Chief Constable undertakes an unusual challenge of his own, tracing a missing multi-million pound yacht that has vanished from its moorings. The two events seem unconnected, yet as the casualty count rises, is there a link that no one has seen?

The whodunnit is clear. The mystery is: why.

Quintin Jardine ditched a token attempt to study law for more interesting careers in journalism, government propaganda, and political spin-doctoring. After a close call with the Brighton Bomb in 1984, he moved into the even riskier world of media relations consultancy, before realising that all along he had been training to become a crime writer. Now, forty novels later, he never looks back. Find his blog at: <http://quintinjardine.me>

The thinking fan's footballer with a thinking fan's football book.

Andrés Iniesta was twelve years old when scouts invited him into Barcelona's famous La Masia academy. Shortly after he joined the club, Barca legend Pep Guardiola remarked of him, 'This lad is going to retire us all.' After making his first-team debut at 18, Iniesta became a permanent fixture in the Barcelona midfield, propelling the club to a raft of titles - including an unparalleled six-trophy season in 2009. Along with his Barca teammate Xavi, he has also run the Spain midfield, the pinnacle of his international career coming when he scored the winner against Holland in the 2010 World Cup Final. As intelligent off the field as he is on it, Iniesta will offer a uniquely insightful and analytical view of the game he loves so much, from tactics and technique to managerial styles and coaching approaches, and will reveal the inside story of how Barcelona became the most successful and romantic club on the planet.

Andrés Iniesta Luján is widely considered to be one of the greatest footballers of his generation, playing for Barcelona and the Spanish national team. After graduating from La Masia, the Barcelona youth academy, Iniesta made his first-team debut in 2002, aged 18. He became a regular in the 2004-05 season and has remained in the side ever since, helping Barca to a string of trophies, including seven La Liga titles. At International level he has over 100 appearances, and in 2010 he scored the winning goal against the Netherlands to hand Spain their first World Cup trophy.

There is one animal that will be familiar to all of us, whoever we are, wherever we live. Even if we've never had direct contact with one, we will have seen one, or at the very least, heard one. It is more than likely that one sleeps in your house, possibly even on your bed. I'm talking of course, of the dog. Yet, this animal, that lives alongside us and has inspired and intrigued artists and scientists, become an invaluable partner to farmers, policemen, soldiers and a trusted confidant to over five hundred million of us all over the world, presents us with one great unsolved mystery: how did this relationship - the most complex and enduring of any between human and animal - start in the first place? Kate Humble is a life-long animal lover. Now living on an idyllic farm in Wales, she has achieved her dream of surrounding herself with as many varieties as possible. But, as for many Brits, the dog has always held a special place in her heart. Here, she uses her journey with her sheepdog puppy Teg to frame her examination of this very special relationship. Written with warmth and love, and packed full of stories about rescue dogs, guide dogs, service dogs and medical dogs, this is a must-read for anyone with a four-legged friend.

Kate Humble is a writer and presenter. Her most recent television credits include Volcano Live, and the long running popular wildlife series Springwatch and Autumnwatch. She is a qualified commercial diver and is the second woman to be appointed President of the RSPB. Kate and Ludo launched their business Humble By Nature in 2012. Based on a working farm in Monmouthshire, they run courses in food, rural skills and animal husbandry.

FICTION

The riveting story of a woman determined to escape and the man who wants to find her. From the bestselling author of IF YOU WERE ME, ISOBEL'S WEDDING and MY MOTHER'S SECRET.

Readers of Marian Keyes, Lisa Jewell and Santa Montefiore will love this stunning novel from Sunday Times bestselling author Sheila O'Flanagan.

It's the perfect marriage. Everyone says so, even her closest friend. Really, as Vince has pointed out, many times, Imogen just couldn't manage without him. And he's saved her from the family that didn't love her.

Couldn't she? And has he?

There's only one way to find out. Imogen's on a journey in search of herself. But her past is right on her heels...

Sheila O'Flanagan is the author of many bestselling novels, including My Mother's Secret, as well as three bestselling short story collections. Sheila has always loved telling stories, and after working in banking and finance for a number of years, she decided it was time to fulfil a dream and give writing her own book a go. Sheila is now the author of more than twenty bestselling books. You can follow Sheila on Twitter @sheilaoflanagan or visit her Facebook page at Facebook.com/sheilabooks.

FICTION

She stole her husband. Now she wants to take her life.

After the horrors of the past, Louisa Williams is desperate to make a clean start. Her husband Sam is dead. Her children, too, are gone, victims of the car accident in which he died. Sam said that they would never get away from him. That he would hound Louisa until she died if she tried to leave. Louisa never thought that he would want to harm their children though. But then she never thought that he would betray her with a girl like Sophie. And now Sophie is determined to take all that Louisa has left. She wants to destroy her reputation and to take what she thinks is owed her – the life she would have had if Sam had lived.

Her husband's lover wants to take her life. The only question is will Louisa let her?

After a drama degree at Bristol University, Julia Crouch spent ten years devising, directing and writing for the theatre. During this time she had twelve plays produced and co-founded Bristol's Public Parts Theatre Company. She lives in Brighton with her husband, the actor and playwright Tim Crouch, and their three children.

Mad Girl

Bryony Gordon

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 02/06/2016

Format: Hardback

Price: £14.99

ISBN: 9781472232083

NON-FICTION

A new book from the bestselling author of THE WRONG KNICKERS on living with depression and OCD.

On the surface it seems that Bryony Gordon has the perfect life. One of the UK's most successful journalists she is married to a man she loves with a two-year-old daughter she adores. Yet inside Bryony's head things are never as straightforward as they seem. Is it possible that she's murdered someone and can't remember? Why did her hair fall out when she was a teenager? Is she capable of hurting her daughter? Has she mysteriously contracted an STD? Why is she always so fat? For while Bryony does have a life many would envy, she is also engaged in a daily battle with mental illness. Fighting with OCD, bulimia and depression, like millions of others in this country, sometimes she finds it a struggle just to get out of bed. Here, in MAD GIRL, she tackles all of these subjects with her trademark humour, warmth and eye watering honesty.

Bryony Gordon has become one of the Daily Telegraph's best loved writers. Her weekly column has won her an army of fans who have followed her journey from single girl about town to - finally! - settled mum. Bryony is now 35 and lives in Nappy Valley (Clapham) with her baby daughter Edie and her husband, a financial journalist. The last sentence is one she never thought she would see written down on paper.

A Handful of Flour

Tess Lister

headline

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 02/06/2016

Format: Hardback

Price: £27

ISBN: 9781472233370

NON-FICTION

Ask any baker, artisan, professional or even amateur, where they get their flour from and the answer is always 'Shipton Mill'. Set in a beautiful Cotswold valley near Tetbury, the mill in Shipton Moyne Wood has been producing flour since the time of the Domesday Book. Restored by John Lister in the 1980s, Shipton Mill now produces organic, stoneground flour carefully sourced and sustainably made.

A HANDFUL OF FLOUR is their first cookbook and will become a timeless classic. More than just a baking or bread book, it will take you through the properties of flour from white to wholemeal, strong bread flour, French white flours and '00' Italian flour, showing you how to choose the best flour for classic recipes as well as introducing you to recipes that showcase speciality flours such as Swiss dark flour, spelt, buckwheat and rye and ancient Emmer and Khorason. And for those who are gluten intolerant, there are recipes that show you how to make the most of rice flour, almond flour, chestnut and coconut flour.

John Lister discovered the derelict site in 1981 and founded the Mill as it stands now. Lovingly rebuilt by friends and family, it celebrates the community ethos and values it was founded on.

Tess Lister is John Lister's daughter and grew up and now works at the Mill. She has written the recipes together with the Mill's head baker and pâtissier.

21 Years to Midnight

Debbie Cenziper and Jim Obergefell

headline

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 16/06/2016

Format: Trade Paperback

Price: £13.99

ISBN: 9781472235589

NON-FICTION

The personal story behind 'Obergefell v Hodges', the most important civil rights case of our time. A legal thriller and love story focused on ordinary people in game-changing circumstances.

Twenty-one years ago when Jim Obergefell walked into a bar in Cincinnati and sat down next to John Arthur, the man who would become the love of his life, he had no way of knowing that, following the sad loss of John to MND, his fight to have their marriage recognised on John's death certificate would lead him from the courthouses of Cincinnati to the Senate floor and ultimately to the steps of the U.S. Supreme Court and into the history books. Jim Obergefell is representative of the 32 plaintiffs in the case 'Obergefell v Hodges', arguably the biggest civil rights case of our time, which in June this year saw same sex marriage recognised across every US state. Here Jim teams up with long-time friend and Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Debbie Cenziper of The Washington Post to tell his story.

Debbie Cenziper is a Pulitzer Prize-winning investigative journalist with The Washington Post. Debbie has won nearly every major prize in American print journalism, including the Robert F. Kennedy Award for Journalism.

Jim Obergefell is the named plaintiff in the landmark civil rights case, Obergefell v. Hodges, which will decide whether gay couples have a constitutional right to marry in all 50 states. Obergefell calls himself an "accidental activist."

The Sun, the Moon and the Rolling Stones

Richard Cohen

headline

Imprint: Headline

Pub: 16/06/2016

Format: Hardback

Price: £20

ISBN: 9781472217998

NON-FICTION

An in-depth biography of the biggest band in the world, written by the man known as 'the fifth Stone'.

When he was 25 years old, budding journalist Rich Cohen got the assignment of a lifetime. He was sent by Rolling Stone magazine to Toronto to hang out with, get to know, and write about The Rolling Stones. The result was an epic adventure with some of the most fascinating people in the world: Mick Jagger, Keith Richards, Ron Wood, and Charlie Watts. Over the ensuing 15 years of friendship, reporting and collaboration, Rich got behind the scenes of the most wild soap opera of our time. The book will be a chronicle of the Rolling Stones, their era, their music, their influences, and it's also Rich's own story - the coming of age of a fan who somehow ended up among his heroes. This is a non-fiction book that reads like a novel filled with the greatest musicians, agents and artists of the most indelible age in pop culture. It's a book only Rich, with his unique access, experience and love of the band could write.

Rich Cohen is a contributing editor at Vanity Fair and Rolling Stone, and his work has appeared in many magazines and newspapers, including the New Yorker and the New York Times. He is the author of several books, including the New York Times bestselling TOUGH JEWS, SWEET AND LOW and the widely acclaimed THE FISH THAT ATE THE WHALE.
